Well it's sad to see a person in the real world
Standing in the corner of a group
Singing Leonard Cohen for nobody's ears
About changing the system from within
He's high on hash and he's high on dreams
He is a hero, in time he will be

A stranger drifting in the air
No real connection anywhere
He's the only egocentric person in town
Working at the factory making cybernetic cars
Oh could he hear this old bitter song
This brave new song that goes on and on
