

Lost paradise

It could have been paradise but she was held in a house with Gina and Marie

Her father had died upon her when she was twelve and her mother had traded her for drugs

For a moment she thought she had something that someone in that town would want to have

But she forgot about it and fell back on the bed to do her share

Every cloud has a silver lining
Lost paradise has none
It is just a girl in a dirty room
and a place where dreams will die

She escaped when he was busy with Marie and he forgot to lock the door

Then she jumped out from the bridge and she was most likely dead when she was hit by the first car

Being in the world is such a mercy only known by creatures being in the world

He would never beat a girl if she was dead
No he would never cross that line

Every cloud has a silver lining
Lost paradise has none
It is just a girl in a dirty room
and a place where dreams will die
